APPEALS MADE

To Take Some Action to Avert "Threatened Disaster" in The Railroad World.

HIS ATTITUDE IS UNCHANGED.

No Intention to Make Any Extremely Radical Attack-Will Confer With Railway Magnates.

Washington, March 14.-For more than 48 hours the White House and treasury department have been flooded with appeals for President Roosevelt and Secy, Cortelyou to take some action to avert the "threatened disaster" in the financial and railroad world. It can be stated authoritatively, however, that President Roosevelt will not change his attitude toward the railroads, though it is admitted that the administration has no intention of entering on an extremely radical attack on the railroad corporations.

While it is known that the visit of J. Pierpont Morgan to the White House last Monday night to induce the presient to issue a reassuring statement to he country in regard to the administration's attitude toward the railroads, and the apparent failure of the financier's appeal have had much to do with the panicky conditions that swept over Wall street today, President Rooseveit has repeatedly said that he is not an enemy of the railroads, and that those that obey the laws have pathing to fear from the government. mat those that obey the laws have nothing to foar from the government. While it has not been definitely decided, the president may issue a statement outlining his a itude, after he has conferred with Presidents McCrea, Newman, Mellen and Hughitt, on the railroad situation.

The conference with the four rail-The conference with the four rati-road magnates, which was granted by the president, at the earnest request of Mr. Morgan, will be held early next week. It is generally understood, by those close to the president, that the railway officials will urge Mr. Roose-veit to take some steps "to allay the public anxiety now threatening to ob-struct railroad investment and con-struction and as to the relations between the railroads and the govern-

Since Mr. Morgan's hurried trip to the White House, the president has held numerous conferences with Chairman Knapp and members of the interstate commerce comission in order that he may be in a better position to present the administration's side of the question when he meets the railroad presidents next week.

The administration is firmly convinced that the great unrest in financial circles has been brought on by the arguments advanced by the railroad interests in trying to prevent "hostile e Mr. Morgan's hurried trip to terests in trying to prevent "hostile legislation" in the various states, and not by the attitude that the federal government has taken to enforce the regulating the common carriers. R. H. Harriman, when he was in this city recently, and President A. B. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western, who called at the White House today, who called at the white House today, have expressed the same opinion.

In his interviews with the members of the interstate commerce commission, the president is fortifying himself with regard to all the facts that body has disclosed during its various investigations. In this way he will be able to meet argument with argument and fact meet argument with argument and fact he sent his message to Congress last December and called attention to the fact that "during the last five months," within which the new law is operative at that time, "the railroads have shown increased earnings and some of them unusual dividends." This the president believes refutes the claim of the railroads at the time that the new law would ruin them, and emphasizes the fact that rate legislation either by federal or state governments is not by federal or state governments is not the cause of the present panicky con-

The president, too, has referred sig-nificantly to another part of his mes-sage in which he said, "it must not be supposed, however, that with the pas-sage of these laws it will be possible sage of these laws it will be possible to stop progress along the line of increasing the power of the national government over the use of capital in interstate commerce." In pointing out these and other passages from his recent message to those with whom he has talked, the president has indicated that he has taken no backward steps in his views as to the advisability of making the regulations and laws still stronger along certain lines.

in his views as to the advisability of making the regulations and laws still stronger along certain lines.

Although believing that the conditions in New York are due to nothing for which the administration is responsible, the president believes he has done everything that can consistently be done to give relief to the money maraket.

The order issued by Secy, Cortelyou yesterday, followed by the order of today, prevents the withdrawal of large sums belonging to the government and provides the way for the use of additional funds in Wall street. The first order put a quietus on the rumor that the treasury was to immediately withdraw the additional deposits put in the banks last October, amounting to $30,900,000. Today Mr. Cortelyou issued an order that the $10,000,000 of additional currency taken out by the national banks could be held by them without substituting federal for the state and other bonds with which it is now secured. This, it is pointed out, will prevent a sharp demand for government bonds for deposit as security.

Another step which will put about $1,000,000 a day into circulation is the deposit of customs receipts in the deposharies, as provided under the new currency act. The secretary also has notified bondholders that he will redeem with interest to July 1, when they will maiure, any bonds of the 4 per cent funded loan of 1907, to an amount not exceeding $25,000,000. These bonds may be presented at once.

VIEWS OF BRYAN.

New York, March 14.-William J. New York, March 14.—William 5.
Bryan, who was in town for a short time today en route to Boston, said that the railroads prefer federal to state legislation, and that is why the presidents of the trunk lines are appealing to the president. He attributed the timidity of investors to what he called the attempts of the railway people to terrorize the state legislatures. The tremendous shrinkage in the market values of stocks he at-tributed to the squeezing out of the water.

"It has been the policy of railroad officials to avoid state legislation and seek their relief from the federal government," said Mr. Bryan. "These big corporations prefer to deal with Congress for the reason that state legislatives are low near the nearly islatures are too near the people. I have said that the sooner the railroads are put on an honest basis the sooner the investing public will feel more se-the investing public will feel more secure in doing business with them."

"Do you still adhere to the position you took with reference to government ownership of railroads?"

"I do, most emphatically, but I said at Madison Square Garden that ultimate ownership might prove to be the remedy. I did not say immediate ownership."

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED.

Monroe, La., March 14.—Flint Williams and Henry Gardner, two young negroes, were taken from the city jail about 1 o'clock and hanged in the courthouse square by a party of about 60 men.

Gardner confessed to having entered the rear of Miss Jossie Burneys about the room of Miss Jessie Bumpus about 3 o'clock this morning. The whole affair was planned after the capture and confession of the negroes today and was carried out without a hitch.

Secretary of the Treasury Will Redeem Bonds to Amount of Seventy-five Millions.

CORTELYOU ISSUES CIRCULAR.

Takes Steps to Avert Financial Panic -Banks Will Retain Increased Circulation.

Washington, March 14.-Secy, of the Treasury Cortelyou today made the following announcement:

"The secretary of the treasury has this day announced that any bank that increased its circulation under the terms of the department announcement of Oct. 22, 1906, and was required thereby to retire the same during the months of March and August, may retain said additional circulation upon tain said additional circulation upon due notification to the comptroller of the currency of its desires so to do, without change as to security for public deposits until further notice. But those banks desiring to retire their additional circulation obtained in this way will be required to withdraw the state, municipal and railroad bonds now leaders. state, municipal and railroad bonds now lodged with the treasurer of the United States as security for public deposits and substitute the bonds released by reason of their additional circulation. "The amendment to section 5153 of the revised statutes to the act approved March 4, 1907, eliminates the words 'except receipts from customs,' and the secretary of the treasury is now instructing collectors of customs at places where it is found to be desirable to deposit their receipts with national bank depositaries already established in the same cities as the custom houses.

"The secretary of the treasury has also issued a circular announcing that he will redeem, with interest to July 1, the date of their maturity, any registered and coupon bonds of the 4 per cent funded loan of 1907 to an amount not exceeding $75,000,000. The bonds may be presented at once for redemption, and registered bonds should be duly assigned to the secretary of the treasury. A copy of this circular will be mailed to each owner of registered bonds.

"The circular of Feb. 11, 1907, presented as the will be recommended by the circular will be circular of Feb. 11, 1907, presented bonds. The secretary of the treasury has tered bonds.

"The circular of Feb. 11, 1907, providing for the purchase of these bonds at 101½, has been rescinded."

Under these announcements and that which was made yesterday about $48,-100,000 will be allowed to remain in circulation that otherwise would have been called into the treasury. Of this amount, $30,000,000 represents public deposits temporarily placed with the banks last fall under agreement that they should be returned to the treasury subsequent to Feb. 1, 1907, and $16,000,000 represents additional circulation engaged for retirement. These amounts, together with the $25,000,000 United States 4 per cent bonds. United States 4 per cent bonds which the secretary today offered to redeem, make a total of $71,000,000 either left with the banks or offered to be placed with them as the result of the redemption of the 4 per cent bonds.

The first paragraph of the announcement relates to the offer made by Secy. Shaw last October to bring about some degree of elasticity in national bank note issues. He permitted certain depositary banks that had not yet availed themselves of the full circulation privilege to substitute the second control of the second control of the full circulation privilege to substitute the second control of the second co availed themselves of the full circulation privilege to substitute certain approved state, municipal and railroad bonds as security for public funds lodged with them, on condition that the United States bonds as released be immediately pledged as security for additional circulation. Under this plan national banks took out about $16,000,000 additional banks took out about $16,000,000

Under the recent Aldrich act, how-Under the recent Aldrich act, how-ever, the limit of retirement was raised from $3,000,000 to $3,000,000 per month, and engagements for the full retirement during March have been made and $4,500,000 has been engaged for retirement during April and small-er amounts for succeeding months. It is believed at the treasury department that this plan will keep in circulation the full $10,000,000 originally engaged for retirement.

is believed at the treasury department that this plan will keep in circulation the full $10,000,000 originally engaged for retirement.

The deposits of customs receipts, in accordance with the Aldrich act, is intended largely as a convenience to the collectors of customs at places where there are no sub-treasuries. Therefore the sub-treasury cities of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, New Orleans and San Francisco will receive no direct benefit by the action taken today. About 160 other large cities will be directly benefited. It is expected that banks named, which are already depositaries for government funds, will now receive the customs collections in the same manner that internal revenue and miscellaneous receipts have hitherto been deposited with them. The advantages, however, that will accrue in consequence of this authorization will be comparatively small, in view of the fact that the receipts from customs in 1966 in all cities of the United States outside of New York were only about 30 per cent of the whole, about 70 per cent being collected in New York.

That portion of the secretary's announcement relating to the redemption of the 4 per cent bonds of 1907, at a price equal to the principal and interest to the maturity, is the measure intended by the secretary as the principal source of relief to the money market. Under this announcement, holders of the 4's of 1907 will receive immediately upon presentation of the bonds to the treasury department, the full face value and 2 per cent additional, being the interest for one-half year, from Jan. 1 to July 1, 1907.

Under the previous offers of the treasury to redeem these 4 per cent bonds, some holders have been reluctant to part with them because of the expectation that the government will open refunding operations at the prices of their maturity. In view of the fact that there is now a large surplus in the treasury and more than $140,000,000 in the depositary banks, it is apparent that the government could redeem t ary for redemption at the prices offered.

Following is the secretary's circular regarding the redemption of 4 per cent bonds of the funded loan of 1907:

"In accordance with the provisions of existing law, the secretary of the treasury hereby gives public notice that he will redeem at any time after this date, upon presentation, the registered and coupon bonds of the 4 per cent funded loan of 1907 to an amount not exceeding $25,000,000, and will pay interest on July 1, 1907, upon the bonds so presented.
"Bonds intended for redemption under this circular should be forwarded to the secretary of the treasury, division of loans and currency, "Registered bonds must be duly assigned to 'the secretary of the treasary for redemption," the assignments being dated and witnessed by one of the officers indicated in the note printed on the back of each bond; and where

Foreign Secy. Gray said:

Mr. Collins asked if the fact did not
